Frame & studding

To disguise the "basement look", use built-out wall technique. If existing wall has a smooth surface, cover it with panelling fastened over 1"x3" furring strips. On irregular walls, it's best to build a regular stud wall.

Panelling materials vary from unfinished wallboard, taped or battened, to pre-finished plywood sheets. Colour, texture, and final finish are limited only by your own imagination.

MERRICK — In loving memory of a father and grandfather who passed away on December 29th, 1960.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not to far for thought to reach.

—Ever remembered by Oscar and Irene, Bob, Frances and grandchildren. 44-1p

STAPLEY — In loving memory of a dear son and only brother, R. Donald Stapley, W.N.S.R., First Canadian Division, killed in action January 6th, 1944 at Ortona, Italy.

Farmers' Union, 171

The December meeting of Local 171 of the Ontario Farmers' Union was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Williams.

Murney Bateman was chairman and opened the meeting with the singing of the Queen. Letters from the head office were read and discussed. One was about the proposed constitution of the National Farmers' Union. It was explained by Jeanne Williams. Another was read by Wes Finch. It was about the Hog Marketing Board. The Hog Marketing Board used to be made up of seven elected Zone Directors and four appointed directors. Last spring the province was divided into eleven zones and a director was elected from each zone. Now the Hog Marketing Board wants to add three appointed directors. The Farmers' Union feels that the directors of any marketing board should be elected by the producers. Appointed directors might not put the interests of the producers foremost.

Some of our members were at the recent Hastings' County Cheese Producers' meeting. They reported that a resolution was passed asking the Ontario government for a grant to help cover the cost of erecting new milk houses and putting in the refrigeration unit. The members at the meeting decided that we should support the Cheese Producers and a resolution was drawn up similiar to theirs.

Several members offered their homes for meetings through the next few months. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perce Mumby. It was also decided to hold some card parties this winter.

Murney Bateman thanked Mr. and Mrs. Williams for the use of their home. Lunch was served and a social period followed.

Mount Pleasant

On Saturday evening, December 23rd, Mr. H. R. Tompkins, Editor of the Stirling News-Argus, and Mrs. Tompkins, paid a surprise visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen. Mr. Tompkins presented Mrs. MacMullen with an engraved Bulova wrist watch. It read thus: "In recognition of 50 years Correspondent to Stirling News-Argus, December 1961."

River Valley Christmas Concert

The River Valley community was given a rare treat on the evening of December 21st when 30 pupils of S.S. No. 19, under the direction of their teacher, Miss M. Blackburn, staged a Christmas Concert of a fine calibre in the school house.

Mr. Glenn Bush, chairman, on behalf of the school board, welcomed the guests who had assembled, filling the school room almost to capacity. Miss Marilyn Conley was the piano accompanist for the evening. The programme consisted of the following:

"God Save The Queen," by the school, followed by the chorus, "Season's Greetings," "Too Fat for the Chimney," "Susy the Snowflake" and "Thanks for Christmas;" five plays, "Lem Haskin's Store," by the senior boys; "A Gift for Santa," junior girls; "Fooling Aunt Julia," senior girls; "Home Management," from the baby up; "Heck Says It," boys and girls. These brought much merriment as the children wore suitable costumes and the adults saw themselves as others see them.

Pleasing recitations, "Daddy's Girly," by Jane Richardson; "Christmas Is Coming," Danny Osmond; "An Unusual Christmas Present," Sheila Richardson; "Christmas Thrills," by Violet Richartson. The juniors in special costume entertained while they enjoyed a square dance.

Quartette, "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night," by Ruth and Jimmy Morrow, Jean Donohoe and Maria Heasman; musical play, "Thorn Rosa," depicting the sleeping princess and rescuing prince in costume in a castle among the "live" trees, by the juniors; "Christmas Beatitudes," by the senior pupils; the Nativity scene, well displayed by several children in proper costume, told the story of the First Christmas.

Between acts the audience joined in singing Christmas music and carols.

The teacher made some pleasing remarks, thanking everyone for their co-operation. As the school sang "Here Comes Santa Claus," that merry old gentlemen entered and in an ideal manner and mood and very graciously had time to see that every child received his attention and gift and also the teacher. Each school-age child and under received a bag of candies.

Everyone went home feeling sorry to hear that school concerts were on the way out, as here was displayed splendid training for future citizenship — namely discipline, responsibility, learning to co-operate and work with others of all ages, respect for others and their property, to be able to speak and express yourself so others can hear and understand your meaning, doing things for enjoyment rather than being entertained, learning how to create and make things, in all producing a respectful school spirit.

After a hearty clap for the teacher and pupils the chairman closed with the remark "again it has been shown that success can be achieved by preparation and co-operation."

This could be your year!

Got something in mind you've always wanted? . . . something that would add greatly to your anticipation of the year ahead? A new car, perhaps . . . a hi-fi . . . or an up-to-date TV . . . or even a cottage in the country?

There's no need to let an after-holiday, empty-pocket feeling interfere with the way a shiny New Year could look to you as it gets underway. 1962 could be the year for getting things you want for you and yours.

Resolve now to start things off by dropping into your neighbourhood branch of the Bank of Montreal. The people there will be glad to discuss a low-cost, life-insured loan through the B of M Family Finance Plan. It's one resolution that's well worth keeping!

Rain and slushy roads bring many additional hazards to drivers. One of them, pointed out by the Ontario Safety League, is the fact that, at the very time when vision is most limited by blurred windshields, pedestrians are liable to make hasty mistakes to avoid getting wet while crossing streets.

Secondary School Teachers Federation Annual Assembly

The new Ontario plan for a three-stream education system consisting of academic, technical and commercial divisions, was given the endorsement of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation at the Federation's Annual Assembly held at Hamilton, Ont., during the last week in December.

Among the 250 delegates, representing 13,200 secondary school teachers across Ontario, were Norma Hutchison, Napanee Branch; Clarence McKague, Brighton Branch; Jack Snetsinger, Belleville Branch; George Elson, Picton Branch, and Edgar C. Hay-Ellis, Centre Hastings Branch.

The Assembly at the same time expressed its displeasure over the fact that the profession had not been consulted by the Department of Education prior to the announcement of the new plan last August.

It asked that no further changes be made by the Government without consulting the profesion, and that an official rerpresentative of OSSTF be permitted to sit on any Department Committee contemplating further alteration.

The Federation's sentiments in this matter were underscored by the retiring president of the Federation, R. A. Cozens, of Delhi, Ont., in his presidential address. He deplored the apparent lack of co-operation in education matters between teachers on the one hand and government — at all levels — on the other.

This tendency for each group "to proceed by itself rather than consult and work with the other for the common good," Mr. Cozens said, could only have a regressive effect on education. He expressed concern also over the fact that "too many teachers and trustees feel they are on opposing sides waging a cold war."

While he could take some encouragement from the recent moves toward greater co-operation, he warned that "there is no room for a system that keeps the right hand in ignorance of the left."

D. Glenn Kilmer, vice-principal of Pauline Johnson Collegiate-Vocational School, Brantford, was elected president of the Federation for the coming year. Born in Saskatoon, and a graduate of Queen's University, Mr. Kilmer taught in Norfolk County and Elgin County Schools, was principal of Port Burwell Continuation School and vice-principal of Essex District High School, near Windsor, before assuming his post in Brantford in 1955.

Margaret A. Robinson, of Toronto, was eelcted first vice-president; David Younger, of Sudbury, second vice-president, and Thomas W. Latta, London, Ont., third vice-president. O. A. Gilmore, Burlington, continues as treasurer.

The Federation recommended substantially increased allowances for exchange teachers to Ontario from the United Kingdom, in order to reduce the financial hardship now felt by U.K. teachers due to the difference in cost of living between the two countries.

Under the plan put forward, allowances for U.K. teachers in Ontario would be increased by $1,500. The U.K. teacher now gets approximately $1,000 additional from the British Ministry of Education and $250 from the salary of the Ontario teacher who is his exchange opposite number. The Federation voted to increase this latter figure to $750, and to recommend to the Ontario Department of Education that it give $1,000 on top of the U.K. grant.

On teachers' salaries the Assembly for the fourth successive year recommended that new teachers with minimum qualifications have a starting salary base of $4,800.

The Assembly also voted to send a request to the Department of Education that there be no discrimination against teachers of industrial arts (e.g. manual training) under the new three-stream secondary school plan.

Appointments Made at Inaugural Meeting of Municipal Council

Members Took Oath of Office at 11 a.m. — Appoint G. Mouck Councillor

Naming of Standing Committees for the year, making appointments to the various municipal bodies and discussion of routine matters marked the inaugural meeting of Village Council on Monday.

Members of Council took the oath at 11 o'clock Monday morning, after which Reeve C. Bateman addressed Council.

He explained that G. C. Mouck, who had accepted a nomination as Councillor at the public meeting November 27th had failed to resign from the Public School Board as required by the act and was thereby disqualified as Councillor. It therefore became necessary for Council to appoint one member.

Reeve's Address

The Reeve requested the Council of 1962 to be cautious in expenditures, keeping in mind that the Village must progress. He also suggested they make a study of the Municipal Act and conduct themselves as councillors according to its regulations. "There were many problems facing the new Council," stated the Reeve, and he asked that they be dealt with fairly and justly. In closing he asked for their full co-operation in the best interests of the village.

Councillor Appointed

On motion of Councillors G. B. Noble and R. Anderson, G. C. Mouck was appointed as a member of the 1962 Council.

Wm. Marshal, of the Ontario Water Resources Commission, was a visitor to Council and stated that a final settlement had been reached with the Bonding Company on the sewer construction and that a final statement of the complete indebtedness would be furnished Council in the near future.

Committees

The following committees were selected for the coming year, with the first named as chairman:

Streets Committee — James Chambers and Geo. Noble

Property Committee — Geo. Noble and G. C. Mouck

Cemetery Committee — R. Anderson and J. Chambers

Fire, Police and Parks — G. C. Mouck and R. Anderson

Rep. on Board of Health — R. A. Patterson

Advance Payment On Requisition

At the evening session Ralph Jeffs, Chairman of the Public School Board, and R. B. Bell, Secretary-Treasurer, waited on Council seeking an advance of $8500 on the 1962 requisition to cover current expenses. This amount will be divided into three payments, one each in February, March and April. Information on the financial standing of the Board was given members of Council and after discussion the request was granted on motion of Councillors Noble and Anderson.

L. Rawlings, manager of the local Bank of Montreal, also addressed Council relative to the Village's financial position.

The monthly report of Police Chief D. M. Ketcheson was tabled and was later accepted by motion of Councillors Mouck and Chambers.

Correspondence included a communication from the Ontario Department of Highways re a bylaw to cover the transfer of the connecting links of Highways Nos. 33 and 14 as through Highways. J. Chambers gave notice that he would introduce the necessary bylaw at a later meeting of Council.

Site Wanted

Canada Trust Co. wrote concerning the location of an industry, with assets of 44 million and employment potential of 125 to 150 persons. Information on a site, available labour supply, etc. was required.

Reeve Bateman stated the brochure prepared by the local Chamber of Commerce, some time ago was a bit outdated and requested a Councillor be named as his assistant in procuring the necessary information. Councillor G. C. Mouck was appointed to assist the Reeve on motion of Councillors Chambers and Anderson.

Rebate

A rebate of $1952.71 on the County Road levy was announced in a letter from W. L. Langlois, County Engineer.

Approval for charging of 50 per cent of snow removal costs on the connecting links of Highways 33 and 14 to the Dept. of Highways, the remaining 50 per cent to be charged against the general account, was contained in a letter from the Department of Highways.

Membership in the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities, $10.00, and Ontario Good Roads Association, $15.00, was approved by Council on motion of Councillors Mouck and Noble.

No action was taken on a request for a grant by Canadian Mental Health Association.

50% Subsidy

A letter from the Ontario Department of Highways approved a 50 per cent subsidy on $1800 of the money spent in procuring the necessary land for the construction of the Henry St. bridge. The remaining lots may be sold by the Village, the proceeds to be shared with the Dept. of Highways.

J. V. Holt, representative of Rosco, addressed Council giving a brief outline of the company, which is all Canadian and uses practically all Canadian material, and its policy and products.

On motion of Councillors Anderson and Chambers, the Clerk was authorized to procure the usual subscriptions to the Municipal World.

The matter of the Teen Town Dances was discussed at length and when it was learned that hall rentals were in arrears, it was decided to curtail future dances until the account was settled.

Bylaw For Appointments

On motion of Councillors Chambers and Anderson, Council went into a Committee of the Whole on Bylaws, with Reeve C. E. Bateman in the chair.

Important Notice To Boxholders On Rural Routes

It is now a fact that in our rural areas the daily mail delivery service is equal to city delivery, and much superior to the no delivery whatever condition of residents of the village. It is also a fact unfortunately that little or no effort is made by rural boxholders during the winter and spring seasons to assist our mail couriers to make delivery by keeping the approach to their box open and in a usuable condition.

It hardly seems possible that while mail delivery to rural boxes is expected daily, the approach to those same boxes is left all winter choked with ice and snow, and deep rutted in mud all spring.

The regulations do not permit such conditions and are quoted below for the information of those concerned.

"Failure to maintain roads in proper condition will be considered sufficient reason for withdrawing service. It is not the duty of mail couriers to break roads after storms. Keep approaches to box level and clear of snow or other obstruction at all times to enable the courier to cover his route without unnecessary delay or inconvenience. This duty is the responsibility of the boxholder. Failure to keep boxes and posts in repair may result in the suspension of service until the necessary repairs have been effected."

A little co-operation will go a long way.

Jesus Christ Only Saviour

(A Sermon by Rev. Robt. Donnan)

There's a Negro Spiritual which I have often heard entitled, "One Way To God." There is much truth in this spiritual, because Jesus said, "I am the Way." Regardless of the number of churches, and the many different races of people that we have today, Jesus is the only Saviour of the human family.

There is an interesting story found in II. Kings, the second chapter. Naaman, the Captain of the host of the King of Syria, was a great man, he was an honourable man, a mighty man of valour. He was held in high esteem by the King and the soldiers under his command, but the Scripture says he was a leper. Leprosy was feared by all. A modern day comparison might be cancer. Why was it such a feared enemy of mankind? There are a great number of reasons, but we are only able to give a few.

First, Naaman would be compelled to leave his important post. Secondly, he would be compelled to leave his wife and family. Thirdly, the rest of his life, he would cry "Unclean!" "Unclean!" if anyone approached him.

We must admit, the future didn't appear too bright for Naaman, but God works in mysterious ways His wonders to perform. In the Providence of God, the Syrians had taken captive a little maid, who waited on Naaman's wife. She was able to tell her mistress she knew of a prophet of Israel, who could pray, and Naaman would be delivered.

In desperation, people oft times grab for the last straw, and this was the way with Naaman. He determined in his heart to see this prophet of Israel. Sometimes God's way is not always the way that man wants, and this was true of Naaman. He expected the prophet to lay his hands on the leprosy and he would be clean, but no, Elisha commanded him to wash seven times in the muddy river of Jordan. Naaman could think of cleaner rivers right in his own country. Why must he humble himself and wash in the river of Jordan. The Scripture says he turned and went away in a rage. He wasn't going to humble himself, he was too proud. We have many Naaman's today who want to be free from their sin but they will not humble themselves before God and confess that they are sinners and they turn and reject the saving grace of Jesus Christ.

The servants of Naaman reasoned with them, saying, if the prophet of the Lord had bid thee to do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? How much rather then, when he saith to thee, wash and be clean?

How true these words are today. Yea, many would go on long pilgrimages, work more, deprive themselves of the comforts of this life, join a church, but they will not do the simplest thing of all, ask Jesus Christ to forgive their sins, and cleanse them from all unrighteousness.

Finally, Naaman humbled himself before God, and in obedience to the Word of the Lord, washed himself in the river Jordan. You know the amazing result of Naaman's obedience, he was clean of his leprosy. God's way is always the best way. Today, we do not wash in Jordan, but we can be washed in the Blood of Jesus Christ.

God's word says, "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." There is only one cure for sin, the Blood of Jesus Christ which cleanses us from all sin.

The song writer composed these words, listen to them.

Whiter than the snow
Whiter than the snow
Wash me in the Blood of the Lamb
And I shall be whiter than the snow.

MENU MAKING FRESH PORK CUTS

Loin roasts are probably the most familiar of the cuts of fresh pork. However, there is much menu making value in the other cuts and this is the time of year to jog your memory about them. For instance, perhaps it has been a long time since you have served those favourite partners — Pork Hocks and Sauerkraut.

The Hocks are from the front legs and are a round tapering cut containing the shank bones. The hocks should be well scrubbed before cooking. Boil with sliced onion, salt and 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice for about 1½ hours; skim off the fat and strain the liquid, then simmer hocks and sauerkraut together for about 10 to 12 minutes in 1 cup of the strained liquid. Three pounds of pork hocks and 2½ cups (28 ounce can) drained sauerkraut will give 6 servings.

Tenderloin is a choice lean cut of fresh pork that would do even a special occasion proud. This long, lean, tapering cut is easily identified at the meat counter. The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa suggests that for 5 servings you have 2 whole tenderloins of equal size (½ to ¾ pound each) split lengthwise and flattened. Cover one split tenderloin with apple bread stuffing. Place second one on top of and tie on skewer securely. Place two or three strips of bacon over the top. Bake on a rack in a shallow pan in a moderately slow oven for 1¼ to 1½ hours.

Spareribs baked in a sauce are especially satisfying to appetites sharpened on the winter wind. There are two types of spareribs — loin or back ribs and side ribs. Loin or back ribs are of fairly uniform length. They have more meat in proportion to bone than side ribs and, therefore, are usually a bit more expensive. Buy about 2 pounds of back ribs or 3 pounds of side ribs for every 4 servings. If desired, the meat man will cut spareribs into individual servings for you.

Two fresh pork shoulder cuts which make into succulent roasts are Boston Butt from the upper shoulder and Picnic Shoulder from the lower shoulder next to the shank. Both may be purchased with the bone removed leaving a pocket for filling with tasty herb stuffing. Allow about ¼ pound of meat per serving for boneless roasts; about ½ pound for bone-in. Roast in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees F., until well done or until the meat thermometer registers an internal temperature of 185 degs. F. This will take about 55 to 60 minutes per pound for shoulder roasts weighing 3 to 4 pounds, 40 to 45 minutes per pound for roasts weighing 5 to 7 pounds.

Pork chops are among the most versatile of cuts to cook. They may be panfried, broiled, baked, stuffed, barbecued, breaded, braised or used for the basis of a casserole. There are several cuts to choose from, some more meaty than others. The Consumer Section gives these descriptions for them:

Rib Chops — contain portions of both rib and blade bones and are somewhat round in shape.

Loin Centre Chops — are triangular in shape and contain the T-shaped bone.

Loin Leg Chops — contain the T-bone and also the round Tenderloin muscle. Rib and loin chops are best suited for dry heat cooking such as broiling.

Blade Chops — cut from the Boston Butt, contain a portion of blade bone. These chops are much larger than rib or loin chops.

Round Bone Shoulder Chops — can be identified by the small round bone they contain. They are cut from the picnic shoulder and are finer grained than blade chops.

There is another fresh pork cut with an identifying round bone — it is:

Fresh Ham Steak from the leg. However it is larger, more oval and more meaty and coarser grained than the round bone shoulder chops.

All pork cuts should be thoroughly cooked. The cooked meat should be greyish white in colour with no trace of pink, particularly near the bone. For thick cuts such as roasts the most accurate way to judge doneness is by using a meat thermometer which registers the internal temperature of the meat. The thermometer should register 185 degs. F. for well done pork.

PRINTING THE CHRISTMAS EDITION

As I write this column the weekly newspapers across the land are busy putting together their Christmas issue and it is easy to imagine the madhouse in the back room. TV dramatists who want to picture the excitement of newspaper life ought to forget the big dailies and visit a weekly newspaper when the Christmas issue has to be prepared, together with countless special job printing orders and the regular issue of the paper. Some papers use color for the special issue, and that further complicates the process.

Finally, when Christmas week comes, out goes the paper. Everybody in the shop, from the High School apprentice, the linotype operator to the editor (who has bustled about like a clucking hen through it all), sighs with relief and waits — waits just a bit wistfully to see if their hometowners appreciate the job.

I'm here to tell you that they do. And the out-of-town subscribers appreciate it too. I continue to get the old hometown paper, and I like the Christmas issue even more than I did when I was a lad. I read the advertisements — where local merchants wish me Merry Christmas in pretty darn fancy prose that I suspect was clipped from somewhere, and over which the typesetter probably said same untinselly blankety-blanks. And I get the glow that I know they want the people to get — and I know that the merchants really mean it, too, because you simply can't succeed as a merchant in a town unless you have some empathy with its people. I suppose there might be one or two cynics in the community who will see all the advertisements and exclaim, "It's all so horribly commercial!" Nuts to them — if they only knew the slim revenue involved in printing a community weekly,, they'd choke on that word "commercial."

Fact is, the Christmas issue ads are only adding to the everyday business of the community some of that aura of friendliness and goodwill that is essential to the good life. There's not a merchant in the lot who expects to make a dime as a result of his Christmas ad; he simply thinks he ought to wish the folks well at this time of year.

The Christmas issue of your weekly paper is a doggone nuisance to print. It upsets routine and usually loses the publisher money in spite of all the ads. It never comes out as fine as the publisher planned or the staff intended. But there's a lot of community heart-throb in it and if you don't appreciate it, you need a visit from Christmas Past, Christmas Future.

Cooking Comments

A roast meat thermometer is handy for judging the doneness of poultry, reminds the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Insert it into the thigh muscle near the body of the bird. Do not let it touch the bonee. When the bird is done, the thermometer should read 190 deg. F. Another method is to insert the thermometer into the centre of the stuffing. There, it should register at least 165 deg. F.

Tender poultry should be cooked by dry heat methods, reminds the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Do not add water when roasting.

To keep a bowl from slipping on a working surface place it on a dampened dish cloth, suggests the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Never use baking soda to prevent curdling in cream soups, since it destroys the valuable vitamins, ascorbic acid and thiamine provided by the vegetables and milk, advises the Food and Nutrition Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

As a finishing touch to a delicious hot soup, dress up the individual servings with effective garnishes. Curry or paprika croutons are attractive garnishes which can be prepared from simple ingredients, advises the Food and Nutrition Department of Macdonald Institute Guelph.

To make croutons, remove crusts from slices of day-old bread, advises the Food and Nutrition Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Spread both sides with a mixture of soft butter combined with curry powder or paprika. Cut into ½ or ½-inch cubes. Place on a baking sheet and toast 6 to 8 inches below a pre-heated broiler until a golden brown. Turn to ensure even browning. Only a few minutes are required.

A few croutons floating on any cream soup are as good tasting as they are good looking, according to the Food and Nutrition Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

NEW PROGRAM TO KEEP COWS HEALTHY

These days it's common practice for most people to visit their dentist at least twice a year for a check-up. They feel it pays off in fewer cavities by catching troubles in the early stages or even preventing them before they start.

Now, a few farmers in Ontario are trying to apply the same system to health problems in their dairy cattle. they have joined forces with their veterinarians on this new venture: they hope to keep their cows healthier, improve milk production efficiency, and reduce their costs — especially veterinary bills — by arranging for regular visits from their veterinarian.

Until now, farmers have been relying on the veterinarian mainly for emergency work. But the new program, called Herd Health, will give the farmer regular professional help with all his cow health problems.

Here's how the system works:

The farmer makes an agreement with his veterinarian for regular herd check-ups — perhaps on a monthly basis. The veterinarian makes his regular calls for a set fee (drugs are extra). He checks cows for pregnancy, vaccinates and dehorns calves and also trims hooves and treats problem cows for mastitis.

Most of the twenty-odd dairymen who are trying the Herd Health program like it, and are planning to stay with it. They claim that one of the big advantages is the saving in feed costs realized by shortening the time a cow remains dry. Through pregnancy tests, the farmer knows 6 to 10 weeks after breeding if a cow has conceived. This means the dairyman could have his cows milking 2 weeks to a month earlier than normal and save $10 to $15 in feed costs.

Dairymen on the program admit it's somewhat expensive. But they feel it is worth the money to be relieved of most of the routine jobs that tend to get put off — especially during busy seasons.

According to Dr. J. F. Cote, OVC Veterinarian in charge of one district program, prevention of disease is the main benefit of the new program. "Herd Health can make a farmer money if his cows don't get sick and cut down his milk cheque. It can save him money by reducing Sunday and after-hours calls too," says Cote.

"One cow can easily run up a veterinary bill of $35 a week if she gets sick. With regular calls, she might never have been sick in the first place.".

For a preventative medicine program like Herd Health to work, the farmer has to keep accurate medical records on each cow. They are necessary because a veterinarian cannot remember every cow in every herd. Of course, this means some extra work for the owner, but it will usually pay off in more milk at less cost.

Herd Health hasn't taken Ontario dairymen by storm. "And there's a reason for it," says Cote. So far, we don't have a good measuring stick for the value of regular professional help. Once we can tell farmers about preventive medicine in terms of dollars and cents, we may have part of the answer to health problems in our dairy cattle."

Use Two Levels of Ventilation

It's a good idea to have 2 levels of insulation in your hen house, advises Ross Milne, Ontario Department of Agriculture extension engineer.

He says that in very cold weather, even in well insulated building, the fans will not run continuously, but the birds do produce moisture constantly. In a well insulated building there is enough bird heat retained to allow a fan, rated at 25 to 35% of the total ventilation capacity required, to run continuously.

Use either a 2-speed fan, or a small fan that will exhaust 25 to 35% and a larger fan capable of exhausting 65 to 75% of the required capacity. The small fan should operate continuously and the larger one should be controlled by a thermostat.

Russell Oats Heavy Producer

Rarely does a new variety show such superiority over such a wide area as does the new oat variety "Russell," reports the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. On the basis of averages, Russell has been at the top of the tests in Ontario in each of the last three years. On individual zone tests it has never stood lower than second, and in the main feed grain growing areas of Ontario it has always stood first.

In climate zone tests the average of all tests in 1961 gave Russell a margin of 6.4 bushels per acre, and on a three-year average Russell outyielded all others by 3.6 bushels. In zones 3 and 4, where large acreages of feed grains are grown, Russell outyielded all others by 8.2 bushels. The Eastern Canada oat tests, including Kemptville, Ridgetown, Guelph and Macdonald College, showed Russell to have a 10.5 bushel advantage in 1961, and a 6 bushel advantage over the last three years.

Russell oats were developed at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and were introduced for the first time in 1960. A year ago one bushel at an auction brought $155.00, and several others sold for $28.00 to $40.00 per bushel.

Tests have proven that Russell oats are adapted to a very wide area, including Ontario, Quebec, New York State, Michigan and the three Prairie Provinces.

Russell oats are similar to Garry in maturity. They are, however, shorter in the straw, thinner in the hull, higher yielding, heavier per bushel weight, equal to Garry in Smut and rust resistance, and more resistant to Septoria blight than Garry. The seed supply of both registered and certified Russell oats is good. This variety alone, with its superior yielding ability, if used extensively will contribute greatly to the increased feed grain production program required for 1962.

Strange Beliefs Cause Accidents

What's your attitude toward farm safety? If it fits any one of the following "strange beliefs", your chances of having an accident are higher, says Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Here are the four most common "strange beliefs" about accidents.

"My number was up" — the fatalistic attitude. If this theory were true, it would be a waste of time to try and fight the inevitable.

"An accident is punishment." If this were a fact, the so-called "sinners" would have an alarming frequency of accidents, while the "saints" would be accident free. This is not so!

"Taking chances is showing bravery." The mere act of taking a chance does not denote bravery. Taking unnecessary risks usually indicates foolhardiness.

"It always happens to the other fellow." Are you such a special person that you can take any kind of dangerous risk without being caught? Talk with accident victims — they didn't expect to get hurt either.

Accidents are not unavoidable, inevitable, a matter of luck, predetermined, or the price of modern living. But unless people forget these strange beliefs, they might as well give up the battle for a safer life.

Watering House Plants

Watering your house plants may seem like a simple thing and so it is if you keep a few simple rules in mind.

Many people do not realize that they can kill a plant by giving it too much water — just as easily as watering too little. The roots of a plant need to "breathe". If you add too much water, you are robbing the plant of the valuable air it gets from the soil. A water-logged soil is poorly aerated and plants growing under these conditions will have trouble from root rot and the leaves will fade and wilt.

To overcome this, horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture suggest that you water less frequently and check to see weather the pot is allowing proper drainage. Pots should always have some gravel or broken pot pieces in the bottom to ensure good drainage.

There is no rule of thumb as to how often to water your plants; too much depends on their location. If they are growing well in a bright, sunny location, they may need it once a day. However if they are in a cool, darker spot, once a week may be sufficient.

One way to check is by tapping the pot. When the pot is dry, it will give a clear, ringing sound, while a wet pot gives a dull note.

If your tap water has been treated with sodium softeners, don't use it. The sodium may prove toxic. Use rain water or melted snow. Take the chill off the water before using it. Cold water can be harmful to many plants.

When watering, soak the soil to make sure that it is wet to the bottom of the pot. This can easily be done by watering from the bottom. If you do this water from above occasionally to prevent harmful crystal deposits on the soil surface.

Two ladies who hadn't seen each other for some time met one day on the street.

"Oh Jane," said Maggie excitedly, "a lot has happened to me since I saw you last. I've had all by teeth out and an electric refrigerator put in."

Timely Tips

Now is the time to check the thermostat in your truck or tractor. D. E. Clark engineering specialist at the Ontario Agricultural College suggests this system to insure that the thermostat is working properly. First place it in a pail of hot water to make sure it opens correctly. Then, cool it to see that it closes. If your thermostat doesn't pass this test — replace it. You can easily save the price of a new thermostat through lower gas consumption and better engine efficiency.

When pigs start chewing board fences or pen walls, it might pay to check for a mineral deficiency in their ration, says Garnet Norrish, Ontario Agricultural College swine researcher. If the mineral ration is adequate and balanced, then look to lack of feeder space as another possible cause.

Do not use tarpaper as a mouse guard for your young trees, warns Ontario Agricultural College botanist, C. B. Kelly. Fumes given off by the tarpaper during bright sunny days in late winter or early spring,, may kill the bark of young trees. Use wire, building paper, aluminum foil or basket veneer. He suggests setting the guard about 3 inches into a mound of fine crushed stone or cinders. Clear away the grass for about a distance of 2 feet from the trunk.

If part of your farm might be taken up by a new highway, pipe line or for other public use, keep in mind this suggestion from Ontario Agricultural College engineer R. F. Hore: Before you sign the contract, make sure you have included provisions for handling any changes or breaks in your present drainage system.

THE BIBLE TODAY

The way in which the present owes a debt to the past is highlighted by the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of India's greatest missionary.

Just over two hundred years ago a first son was born to the Carey family of Paulerspury, a pleasant village in Northamptonshire. The father was a former weaver turned schoolmaster. He was miserably poor and seemingly without prospects. The child was named William. He later became the founder of the Baptist Missionary Society.

William Carey's activity in India, at Serampore, began a new era for the Protestant missions, not only for that country but for the whole world. Preacher, translator, educationalist and missionary strategist, he is perhaps best remembered for his passion to make the Word of God available to people in their own tongue and then teaching them to read it. Over the years this man and his colleagues built up an unparalled list of translations of the New Testament and the whole Bible. In all, some forty translations into the principal languages and dialects of India and the East can be catalogued. On this foundation the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society has continued. Carey's basic work has needed only such revision as to bring the language into line with modern usage.

The revision of the Hindu or Hindustani Bible is now near completion. The recent translations conference at Jabalpur brought together twenty experts with a common Indian background and vocabulary representing the eleven main Indian and Ceylonese languages to deal with common problems and to plan both revisions of existing translations and the making of new translations. Thus William Carey's initial work goes on in India and the East.

LEGION NOTES

The first regular meeting of the new year was held on Tuesday, January 9th at the Legion Hall with Cde. Gil Finkle in the chair. Some 25 members were in attendance.

A splendid report on the very successful Poppy Fund Campaign was given by Treasurer George Noble. He stated that contributions from area schools and the general public were up considerably. Cde. Noble also outlined expenditures from the Poppy Fund which indicated that much help and assistance had been rendered to local and district veterans and their dependents.

Cde. Ross Kirn, one of the Legion's representatives on the local Boy Scout Association, outlined the need for support of the Scouts. As a result of the discussion it was suggested that the Legion might offer to stage a father and son night for all district Scouts in the Legion Hall. Cde. Rev. F. Downing, Padre of the local Branch, offered his services as a member of the Legion committee to the local Scout Association, a gesture which was warmly welcomed by the Branch.

Tentative arrangements for a real evening of comradeship to which all members, veterans and service-men of the area will be invited were discussed. A pot-luck supper, followed by a smoker will be held on the night of Friday, February 2nd. Entertainment of a variety which defies description will be offered music-hall style and a terrific night of fun is anticipated. One proposed event is a barber-shop quartette competition which will bring back many memories of the Legion-sponsored "Hayloft Jamboree." Further information will go to all eligible persons very shortly.

The immediate need for arena staff to undertake box office, canteen and supervisory duties for the hockey and skating season was dealt with. A duty roster will be drawn up and members advised to ensure the proper functioning of the local area.

Stirling Branch Women's Institute Observes Fiftieth Anniversary

Mrs. W. C. West Hostess for Occasion—Turkey Dinner and Program Enjoyed

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. West, James Street, was the scene of a happy occasion when members of the Stirling Women's Institute gathered to observe the fiftieth anniversary of the organization. A delicious turkey dinner, with all the delcacies that go with it, was served. The table was adorned with a bouquet of mixed shades of roses.

Early in the forenoon a quilt, donated by Mrs. A. Scott, of town, had been set up and while some of the members quilted others spent the time reminiscing, recalling the activities of the Institute in the past years.

An added pleasure for the members was the presence of Mrs. L. Rodgers, of West Hill, a former member and still a contributor to the work of the local W.I. A goodwill telephone message and a donation from Mrs. M. Heath, of Belleville, was also received. She has also sent parcels of clothing to the needy in the name of the Stirling Institute.

Welcomed By President

Mrs. B. Reid welcomed all and following the opening ceremonies, Mrs. P. Bronson, Secretary, reminded all of the Homemaking Achievement Day to be held in Stirling on Saturday, January 20th.

The Secretary was instructed to advise Mrs. Percy MacMullen, District President, that Stirling W.I. would loan the dishes for the proposed 65th W.I. Anniversary, but no action was taken on the other request. Several other items of business were discussed.

Copies of the "Home and Country" were distributed and standing committee reports will be given each member, to be returned to the Secretary at the February meeting.

Announcement was made that Council was having a new floor installed in the Community Hall kitchen and the W.I. voted $50.00 to Council as their share in the repair.

Need Clothing For Scott Mission

Agriculture and Canadian Industries

The topic on Agriculture and Canadian Industries was taken by Mrs. L. Rodgers, who submitted various ideas for money making and outlined the "goodwill" work being done at Highland Creek. "Agriculture is the oldest industry in the world and continues to advance through the leadership provided by 4-H and Homemaking Clubs," stated the speaker. We must follow their leadership and accomplishments with interest. So with the Women's Institute, which has progressed to great things. Now that 50 years have passed for Stirling W.I., we must lift our eyes to the sunrise of a new year for future work.

Mrs. Frank Smith gave two readings, "Back Fifty Years" and "The Wrong Train."

For the pleasant hospitality in opening her home for this celebration, Mrs. W. C. West was presented with a gift by Mrs. Ayrhart on behalf of the W.I. members.

50 Years of Achievements

The following article was submitted by Mrs. W. C. West:

As our first W.I. books are missing, this is a short account of our Women's Institute.

Mrs. Farley, of Belleville, organized the Stirling W.I. on January 22nd, 1912. Mr. R. P. Coulter was Reeve of Stirling at this time and the executive was as follows: President, Mrs. R. P. Coulter; Vice-President, Mrs. W. R. Mather and Mrs. (Dr.) Bissonette; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Bessie Ward (Mrs. N. E. Eggleton).

During World War I the W.I. worked with the Red Cross and much work was done for our soldiers overseas. By placing copper bags in the homes, $2,000.00 was collected and sent to the British Red Cross. Three carloads of vegetables were shipped to England. Hallowe'en concerts, debates, hat fashion shows and dances were held to raise money for war work. During the hardships of war it was necessary for everyone to do their utmost for the war effort.

In 1928 the Stirling Women's Institute pledged $2,000.00 to assist

Jan. 20th to 27th Minor Hockey Week In Canada

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has designated the week of January 20th to 27th as "Minor Hockey Week in Canada." Right across Canada, from the Atlantic to Pacific, hockey men will pay tribute to the men who make possible hockey for boys — the men who are the volunteer workers — the managers, coaches, local league secretaries, and yes, even the volunteer referees. Without these men there would be no minor hockey. And if no minor hockey, NO HOCKEY! In Ontario, the observance is under the direction of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association.

The O.M.H.A., in turn, is co-operating with other affiliates to make Minor Hockey Week a successful venture. O.M.H.A. executive members are all busy lining up special programmes in their respective districts. Special nights will be held in practically every City, Town and Village with teams entered in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, and that's practically every City, Town and Village in Ontario. Teams will be holding their own "Minor Hockey Night" during the week, featuring special programmes, important minor hockey games, lucky draws and door prizes. O.M.H.A. President Ted Elmes, of Galt, Ontario, and every member of his executive will be out to these special games every night during Minor Hockey Week. There will be press interviews, special publicity, radio and television appearances for every phase of minor hockey — players, coaches, managers, secretaries, referees and individual members of the O.M.H.A. executive — thus covering evevry field of endeavour connected with the training of better Canadian citizens through participation in Minor Hockey.

All in all, "Minor Hockey Week in Canada" and especially in Ontario, looks like a big week for the youngsters and the men who work for them. And a busy week for the officials.

Keep Canada First . . . Support Minor Hockey.

Minor Hockey is a family affair. Don't send — take your boy to the arena.

Men's Night At River Valley School

On Friday evening, January 12th, River Valley Women's Institute held "Men's Night" at the School House with a large attendance of men, women and children. The event was sponsored by Mrs. Allen McDoneil and her group of Agriculture and Canadian Industries members. The front blackboard was lettered with "Welcome and Happy New Year."

Mrs. Roy Bush was chairlady and opened with "O Canada" and Mrs. Philip Conley was pianist for the evening. Mrs. Bush extended a gracious welcome to those in attendance on behalf of this group and gave a brief message on agriculture.

Jack Bush led the assembly singing which included "Auld Lang Syne" and "Old MacDonald Had A Farm." Mrs. Allen McDonell read a very appropriate New Year's selection. Miss Linda Morrow song "There Is A New Song In My Heart" and "Bless This House" with her mother, Mrs. Harry Morrow, as accompanist.

Mrs. Kenneth Myers, President of the Women's Institute, welcomed the guests and announced a card party for Friday evening and two parties in February.

Mr. Glenn Morrow and Mrs. Conley provided musical selections, violin and piano. Miss Marlene Blackburn read a selection entitled "Down on the Farm." Ruth, Stanley and Jim Morrow sang "Paper Roses" and "An Evening Prayer" with Miss Marilyn Conley as accompanist.

Messrs. Harry Brown, Ralph Johnson, Jack Bush and Grant Richardson sang two sacred quartette selections, "Praising My Saviour" and "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go," with Mrs. Harry Brown as accompanist. The latter also contributed two accordion selections, "A Scotch Melody" and a Scandinavian polka.

Mrs. Jack Bush read a humorous article about "A Five Day Cow," which will probably be on the map at a later date.

Grant Richardson Gives Talk On Farm Management

Mr. Grant Richardson, President of Hastings County Farm Management Account Club, gave an address on this theme. He outlined "What is farm management, why is it necessary, and what plans need to be made?"

The farm should be assessed and ways to make the most money with the least work is very important. The Farm Account Books presents better knowledge of business procedures. The Ontario Farm Account Books were displayed and the speaker gave a graphic picture of the page by page outline of the records books.

The books are very worthwhile for any farmer and the summary of the year's business is most helpful. In this second year of organization there are several topics of special interest that have been chosen for discussion at meetings: Income Tax, Farm Insurance, Woodlots and Father and Son Agreements. The farmers in the area are welcome to attend these meetings and learn more of the procedure of making out accurate reports of their work.

S. MacDonald, Agric. Rep. Shows Pictures And Gives Address

The second speaker was Mr. Sidney MacDonald, Agricultural Representative, who has spent the past four years in Stirling.

Mr. MacDonald extended congratulations and commendation to the young folks in the area and wished River Valley W.I. every success in their worthwhile work. He then presented a large selection of very colourful pictures which he had taken while in his travels in the area. There were winter scenes with glistening snow and ice, apple orchards in bloom, woodlands with their autumn shades, interesting shots of the Trent Valley system and the Trent Road, Quin-Mo-Lac Camp, scenes at Bancroft, Combermere, the Moira River, views of Hoard's Church and Northumberland County, with special pictures of Brighton.

The views of lillies, hepaticas and other flowers in their native haunts as well as beautiful African violets grown indoors added their beauty. The sunrise picture in June 1958 was marvelous. The mass of tulips at Ottawa, potatoes growing at Uxbridge, various scenes of farm homes in the surrounding area, the glories of woodland hues, the Queen at Brighton, the Stirling Centennial Parade and the Scotch gathering at Maxville were all portrayed and enjoyed by the audience.

Safety Council

Mr. MacDonald then spoke briefly re "The Farm Safety Council." He said in 1958 the Department of Agriculture became interested in farm accidents and Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture, decided that something must be done to alleviate these tragedies. On April 1st, 1959, a farm accident survey was inaugurated. During the year 7,835 accidents were reported. 293 were fatal, 336 needed hospital care and 568 were temporary. A large number of days were lost, well over one hundred and twelve thousand while the medical bills were over seven hundred thousand.

For Hastings County there were over one hundred reports of accidents and these averaged one quarter around the home and one quarter around the barn. No place was judged safest.

The speaker told of accidents which had happened on well waxed household floors. He stressed that everyone should be safety conscious and suggested bulletins that are available.

Mrs. Allen McDonell voiced thanks to all who had made the evening a sucess. She particularly thanked the two speakers and presented each with a small gift on behalf of the Agriculture Group of the Institute.

The door prize, a pound of butter, was won by Trudy Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bush.

The meeting closed with the singing of "The Queen" and the Institute Grace, after which refreshments, which included sandwiches, cheese, relishes, cake, cookies and coffee were served by Institute members.

The men were appreciative of the evening held in their honour.

Rawdon Y.P.U. Candlelight Service At Mount Pleasant

On Sunday evening, January 14th, a very impressive candlelight service was held in Mount Pleasant United Church by the members of Rawdon Circuit Young People's Union. Large white and red candles were used in the procession and ceremony.

Miss Carol Beckett was organist and rendered special music for prelude, offertory and postlude.

Miss Diane McAdam, President, was in charge of the service, assisted by the pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher. The processional hymn was "One Holy Light, One Heavenly Flame," followed by the call to worship.

Miss Carol Sharpe led in the responsibe reading of Isaiah 9: 1, "The Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light." The Bible lesson was read by Miss Mary Ellen David and the prayer was given by Miss Bonna Dracup. The Y.P.U. choir sang the theme song, "The Light of the World is Jesus."

The offering was gathered by Douglas Potts and Jim Johnson and dedicated with the Doxology. The group then sang "I Would Be True, For There are Those Who Trust Me."

The pastor introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Ian Riley, of Belleville, who gave a message on the theme, "One God, One Father," centred around Christian Youth Week. The speaker gave a few of the highlights of the recent Ecumenical Meeting at Ann Arbour, Michigan.

The candlelight service followed with the procession of members from the basement. The pastor was in charge of the candle ceremonies and Kenneth Smith was narrator. Those having special parts pertaining to the prophets were Barbara Williams, Don Fleming, Joyce Cooney, Jim Fleming, Janet Fletcher, Allan Wrightman and Fred McAdam.

THE BIBLE TODAY

Katanga in Congo is strife-torn and horror-ridden. But amid the noise of exploding bombs and the shrieks of tortured people, the ministry of reconciliation through the distribution of the Scriptures still goes on.

The work began many years ago by Mr. F. S. Arnott of the Brethren Mission, who penetrated into Congo from Angola and established a mission station at Bunkeya, is still strong. The mission at Luonza, established by Dan Crawford, who translated the Bible into Luba Sanga, and the mission of Alexander Clark, the translator of the Luba Katanga Bible, still witnesses to the love of God.

For more than twenty years the Methodist Mission and the Garenganze Evangelical Mission was the only Protestant witness in Katanga.

Through these and other missions such as the Seventh Adventist Mission in Elizabethville, recently bombarded, and the Baptist Mission, tens of thousands of Katanganese people have heard the Gospel.

There are now complete Bibles in seven or eight Congolese languages and complete New Testaments in several others such as Kiluba, Tshiluba, Lunda of Kalunda, Lunda Kambone and others.

FACTS ABOUT CANNED PEACHES

Thanks to a good peach crop in 1961 canned peaches are a good buy this winter. You will find that the majority of peaches packed into cans are in the form of peach halves. Sliced peaches run second in popularity of form with the sliced segments somewhat smaller than quarters. Quartered peaches are not packed to any extent and whole peaches are very seldom canned. However, whole peaches are packed occasionally in glass with spices added. These are sold chiefly as a specialty product. The label on the can indicates whether the peaches are halved, sliced, quartered or whole.

As the consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa points out, approximately 60 to 65% to two thirds of the 1961 pack of peaches was graded and marked Canada Choice and therefore, this is the quality most abundant in the stores now. Although there may be slight variations in the color and maturity of the fruit, Canada Choice peaches are sound, clean and free from blemishes and packed in a fairly clear liquid. They have a good texture and flavour and are well suited for all general purposes. Because of the quantity available, Canada Choice peaches are definitely a good buy.

Canada Fancy, the highest grade of canned peaches, are not in large volume as only 10% of the entire peach pack was thus graded. However, when dessert peaches of uniform size and color are especially desired, this is the grade to buy. Look for the grade mark, it is always shown on the main part of the label on the can.

Peaches are usually packed in syrup and the percentage of sugar used appears on the label. If the fruit is packed without sugar, the words "without sugar" or "unsweetened" are used.

Mrs. T. Laycock Hostess Bethel W.A.

The first meeting of the Bethel United Church Women convened at the home of Mrs. T. Laycock in the form of a quilting.

Mrs. Laycock, in a few well chosen words, thanked the members for their co-operation in the past and asked them for continued support and help to make this new organization a success. The inaugural service for the installation of the officers for the U.C.W. was held the previous Sunday and were as follows:

President — Mrs. T. Laycock
Vice-President — Mrs. E. McKeown
Secretary — Mrs. W. Heath
Treasurer — Mrs. S. Hoover
Pianist — Mrs. H. Elliott
Press Reporter — Mrs. W. G. Fletcher

The worship service opened with a poem by the President, "I Wish I Knew," followed by the hymn, "Breathe on me Breath of God." The scripture lesson was taken from Colossians 1: 12-19 and Mrs. Baron gave the meditation on "The New Beginning." Mrs. Laycock closed with prayer.

Roll call was responded to by a Bible verse beginning with the letter "J."

During the business four delegates were appointed along with the President to attend the inaugural service of the Presbytery on January 21st at Bridge St. Church, Belleville. Those appointed were Mrs. T. Laycock, Mrs. McKeown, Mrs. J. Mulheron, Mrs. H. Elliott and Mrs. D. Heath.

Arrangements were not yet completed for the 1962 programmes as to homes and those taking part in the programme.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. D. Heath with Mrs. S. Brady and Mrs. J. Mulheron preparing the programme.

Mrs. Laycock and Mrs. McKeown served dainty refreshments and Mrs. Fletcher voiced thanks.

Rylstone W.I.

Rylstone Women's Institute met at the Sunday School room of Zion Church on Wednesday last for their January meeting. Owing to the busy holiday season there was a very small attendance, only 8 ladies attended.

Mrs. Gerald Barnum was hostess and Mrs. Eldon Anderson convener. There was no new business and no bills. Some who were to contribute to the programme were unable to attend, so the afternoon was spent in working contests conducted by Mrs. Carl Reid, Mrs. Stanley Kerr and Mrs. Don Kerr, who also gave a reading and conducted a geography match.

Woman's Auxiliary Ont. Diocesan Board

The Woman's Auxiliary of The Church of The Redeemer was hostess to the Ontario Diocesan Board for its January meeting.

The Diocesan President, Mrs. W. F. H. Mitchell presided, and the Rector, The Rev. H. Robinson said the opening prayers using Psalm 66 as his theme.

Prior to addressing the meeting, Bishop K. C. Evans dedicated the beautiful banner which the women of Pakistan made and embroidered for the W.A. of this Diocese.

The Bishop commenced his address by expressing pleasure at being present; and wishing everyone a Happy New Year. He stressed the great loyalty of the women of the Church; and of their great interest in missionary work; though in the past few years men have also become interested in the work of the Church promoting a healthy condition, which promises well for the future.

Following these opening remarks the Bishop went on to give what might be termed "A State of the Diocese" talk.

Firstly, favourable comment was made of the W.A. Annual Meeting and the Youth Rallies; as it is possible at these events to provide unlimited inspiration.

Secondly, co-operation shown with regards to the appointment of a Women Youth Worker has borne fruit. New growth and interest has been promoted; and young people are responding well to excellent leadership.

Thirdly, "The Story of the Women's Auxiliary in Ontario Diocese" was highly praised. Great loyalty and "esprit de corps" of the many people involved having made this book a reality.

Lastly His Lordship spoke of the tremendous change in the Diocese as a whole, of the number of new Churches being built, and of the energy shown by the younger clergymen in the mission parishes.

1962 is the Centennial Year of the Diocese, and it is the earnest wish of the Bishop that the same inspiration be captured that was present when this Diocese was founded in 1862. Bishop Lewis, the first Bishop, believed that "Truth is One" and every Anglican is asked to participate fully in a complete demonstration of faith.

The President thanked the members of The Church of The Redeemer for their hospitality, and the Bishop said the closing prayers.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

FARM BUSINESS RECORDS THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Does it pay to keep farm records? J. H. Clark answers yes to this question. Mr. Clark is a farm management specialist with the Farm Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Clark says: "During the last ten years, the prices farmers pay for goods have risen by 30 to 50 percent, while return for farm produce has remained steady or even declined. Along with this fact, higher expenses emphasize the importance of keeping farm records."

The best way to keep farm records is with an annual account book. From the analysis of this book you can pick out the weak points and correct them, making changes for a more profitable operation next year. You can also check new ideas for profitability on paper before you actually spend the money.

If you don't belong to a farm management association and there isn't one in your county, Clark suggests sending to the Economics Department at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, for an account book. They will also do the analysis of the book at the end of the year.

"Records are of no value unless they are kept accurately and analysed at the end of each year," states Clark.

TESTS SHOW BLOOD SPOTS HEREDITARY

Blood spots in eggs are a hereditary trait claims poultry geneticist, J. H. Strain after tests at the Canada Department of Agriculture's experimental farm.

High-producing strains do not necessarily lay more eggs containing blood spots than do low-producing strains. Therefore, by carefully selecting the breeding stock, egg production may be increased at the same time as the percentage of eggs containing blood spots is decreased.

Proof that there is no relationship between high egg production and the occurrence of blood spots was obtained by experiments with two strains of White Leghorn obtained from a single strain in 1950. One strain was selected for high egg production and the other, mated at random, has low egg production. However, the high-producing strain has a much lower percentage of eggs with blood spots in them than the low-producing strain.

Further proof comes from a study of seasonal production. When egg production is high, (in the fall), the percentage of eggs containing blood spots is low. In March, when egg production is low the percentage of eggs with blood spots is high.

Spread Manure Daily or Store It Which Pays?

This is the time of year when many farmers in Ontario are debating whether they should spread manure daily or weekly, or store it in the barnyard until spring.

Fertilizer benefits and labour availability influence that decision.

"Manure can be spread during the winter without too much loss of plant food — provided it is done on land where runoff isn't a problem," says Prof. T. H. Lane, of the Soil Science Department of the Ontario Africultural College. "The losses from spreading manure in the winter on level land are usually less than the cost of removing the manure from the pile in the spring. Spreading manure in the winter is done when time and labour are not at as great a premium. The main difficulty is snow depth — of being able to get onto the field to spread the manure."

Another decision a farmer has to make in choosing the field on which to apply manure, says Professor Lane. "In the case of well-established hay stands with a lot of alfalfa, manure should be applied before the snow is too deep — or preferably before snow fall. Spreading manure at 8 to 10 tons per acre on snow a foot deep and deeper may cause an ice pack to form under the manure and kill out the alfalfa, especially on clay soils — causing a noticeable drop in hay yield the next year." On new seedings, he advises spreading manure in early fall and winter — before snowfall — to prevent possible smothering of the new seedlings.

Manure can be most profitably applied at 8 to 10 tons per acre on fields which will be planted to corn in the spring — either on sod or plowed land. Professor Lane believes it is worth up to $4.50 per ton on corn ground.

If manure is being spread on hayland in the winter under deep snow conditions it's best to apply it to an old grass field or one where the stand of alfalfa is becoming thin.

A lot of fellows who say what they think don't do enough thinking.

Eggleton U.C.W.

On Thursday afternoon the first meeting of the Eggleton United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. McMullen with eleven in attendance.

President, Mrs. Warren Harlow, presided and opened the meeting by reading a poem, "The Gift of a New Year" and the hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be," with Miss Joyce Stapley pianist.

The Scripture Lesson, Psalm 90, was read by Mrs. Keith Johnson. Mrs. Forde Stapley contributed a lovely vocal solo, "Something For Thee," with Mrs. Maurice Clancy playing her accompaniment.

The first chapter, "Jeanie," from the study book, "Hasten the Day," was given by Mrs. M. Clancy. The hymn, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," was sung.

Mrs. Harlow spoke on the aims of the new organization and methods for carrying on the work for the coming year. Mrs. Bruce Stapley reported on a number of visits made and also the number of plants and cards sent out during the past month. Mrs. Clarence Fitchett read a letter of thanks from Mr. Kenneth Stewart for the box of Christmas gifts he had received from Eggleton Auxiliary for some of the Indian children at his Curve Lake Church.

Mrs. Forde Stapley read a letter received from the Presbyterial Supply Secretary. The offering was gathered and eleven paid their U.C.W. fees. The dedication prayer was read by Mrs. Carl Bridges. Mrs. W. McMullen presided for the business period.

A motion was passed that Mr. Carl Bridges be asked to purchase the needed repairs for the church oil burner. A discussion took place on the number of subscriptions to the United Church Observer.

The members were reminded of the service at Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, on Sunday afternoon, January 21st.

The February meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Stapley with Mrs. W. McMullen to prepare the programme. The roll call to be answered by a memorized verse of scripture from the Gospel of St. Luke.

The members and all ladies in the community are invited to attend the World's Day of Prayer being held at Moira United Church on March 9th.

Ten more packages of U.C.W. envelopes to be ordered, so a package can be placed in each home on the Appointment here.

The hymn, "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love." All repeated in unison the new benediction, "Let the beauty of the Lord, our God, be upon us and establish Thou the work of our hands upon us, yea the work of our hands establish Thou it."

Mrs. McMullen served dainty refreshments.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

TODAY'S YOUNG PEOPLE

We had a party at our home between Christmas and the New Year. All the guests were young men and women between the ages of 17 and 19, friends of my daughter Sal. It was Sal's birthday and the night of the Prom, so the girls were all dressed up for dancing later and the boys were scrubbed and handsome.

The old man hung around most of the evening. I was official photographer for the gathering, and I had been a bit worried that they'd wish me out of the way with my lights and camera. I had intended to snap a few pictures, quickly, and then unobtrusively do the disappearing act so I wouldn't be a wet blanket.

Wet blanket or not, those young people made me feel so much at home I stayed right through the party and had a wonderful time. And that night I said to Nora, "If those kids represent the new generation, I'm for it. They've got more poise, more common sense, and a bit more of everything than we had when we were that age."

We have worried, from time to time about giving the kids so much freedom. The rules aren't as strict as when we were young. They've all had a few brief curtain lectures about the rights and wrongs of things, and that's been just about it. The reins have been held quite loosely. They come and go pretty much as they please, read the books and magazines of their choice, have a good deal more spending money than we did, and get off by themselves in automobiles which we never even dreamed of having at their age.

Maybe, in that wonderful group of kids I had fun with, there'll be the occasional mistake made. In this upset world, they would have a much better excuse than we ever had to go a little mad and raise a bit of hades. They have the freedom to kick their heels pretty high if they've a mind to.

My bet is, however, after observing them in wonder, that they're the best generation yet. They're capable of responsibility.

May God preserve them from atom bombs or the stupidity of their elders.

Timely Tips

Can you think of any ways you could shorten your chore time? If you can, it will pay to use them, says Jack Clarke, farm management specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Two minutes saved each day means 12 extra hours per year, and 5 steps saved each night and morning will shorten your annual walking by 2 miles.

The 1961 Tree Fruit Census conducted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture is now under way. If you have a commercial orchard and live in Ontario, did you receive a census form in December? If not, write to: W. B. Fox, Extension Building, Horticultural Experiment Station, Vineland. Census forms will be forwarded to you.

Never depend on your "right-of-way." That's the opinion of Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. To prove his point he cites this case history; an Ontario farmer depended on his "right-of-way" at a rural intersection during a rainstorm. A truck on the other road, failed to stop and demolished the car. The farmer ended up in the hospital. Apparently, the other fellow didn't see the stop sign.

in the new Community Hall. It was agreed to pay $200.00 a year for ten years with the understanding that the Institute would have the use of the Hall whenever they needed it for meetings or for social gatherings to raise money. A kitchen and warming oven also were placed in the hall and dishes were supplied. The rest room was furnished with a desk, tables, chairs, clock and rack and a piano was purchased for the dance hall.

During World War II the Institute sent cigarettes, boxes, knitted socks and treats to the boys overseas.

The W.I. motto is "For Home and Country" and the Institute upholds this motto by helping needy families, assisting the Salvation Army when called on for help and giving other charitable donations. Much used clothing has been sent to the Scott Mission the past few years.

The Stirling Women's Institute is a small but active organization and boasts several Past District Presidents and Secretaries.

Included in some of the past activities of Stirling W.I. are: The redecoration of the Community Hall and the Public Library; financial support to the Hall; Welfare banquets; bales of clothing to a W.I. in the northern part of the county; layettes made and sent for another W.I.; financial support to the Belleville General Hospital; sewing for the hospital.

Throught West Hastings District the Women's Institute also assisted Trenton Memorial Hospital which has a room furnished in their name.

Anniversary Cake Ceremony

At the close of the meeting all gathered in the dining room where the table was graced with a large cloth, a bowl of yellow daffodils and a birthday cake with 25 yellow candles and the same number in blue, the W.I. colours. Being the guest member, Mrs. L. Rodgers was given the honour of lighting the candles, signifying 50 years of worthwhile work for the village and community.

In the candlelight all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," mingled with memories of those who were "a't rest" from their labours after most nobly giving of their time in their days of membership. President, Mrs. B. Reid blew out the candles, after which Mrs. W. H. Cooke cut the cake. This was served with a cup of tea, finishing off with chocolates.

4-H Homemaking Clubs Achievement Day For Hastings South Held Here

Leaders and One Hundred Members Take Part—Mrs. M. Waldron In Charge

"Cotton Accessories for the Club Girl's Bedroom," was the title of the 4-H Homemaking Club project just completed in Hastings County. Ten Clubs from Hastings South were represented by one hundred members and leaders at the Achievement Day held January 20th in the Community Hall at Stirling. Mrs. M. Waldron, Acting Home Economist for Hastings County, was in charge. She was assisted by Mrs. Marion Smith, Home Economist for Prince Edward and Northumberland Counties, and Miss Lois Smith, of York and Ontario Counties.

Bedspreads, dresser scarves, cushions, chairpads and wastebaskets made by the members made an attractive and colorful display with the record books.

Each member judged a class of dresser scarves, giving oral reasons, a class of cushions and planned a color scheme for a bedroom during the morning programme.

Exhibits, demonstrations and skits were presented by the individual clubs in the afternoon. "Cotton Accessories for the Club Girl's Bedroom," was the title of the exhibits presented by Centenary, Wallbridge, Melrose, River Valley and Uniondale Clubs. Each exhibit was commented on by a representative of the club — Marilyn Nobes, Beryl Scrubby, Elaine Vandervoort and Brenda Westlake, respectively. Wallbridge I. and Wallbridge II. each exhibited their ideas of "Color Schemes for the Bedroom." Christine Brown and Jewell Demorest explained their club's presentation.

All members of the Foxboro group participated in their skit, "Selecting Materials and Colors for Bedroom Accessories." Members taking part in the Quinte Club's skit of the same title were Linda Janes, Susan Lazaruk, Jane Thomson, Marlene Mitchell, Norma Balling and Mary Clapp.

"Cotton Accessories for the Club Girl's Bedroom" was the title of the demonstration given by Bethel-Zion Club members, Diane Cronkright and Jean McMullen. Dianne and Beth Hall of the Plainfield Club demonstrated "Selecting Materials and Color for Bedroom Accessories."

Certificates of Achievement were presented to club members who had completed two more clubs. Wendy Brown, of Wallbridge I. Club received her County Honor certificate and pin for having completed her sixth project. Recipients for the Provincial Honor recognition for having completed their twelfth project were Jean McMullen of Bethel-Zion Club and Marilyn Phillips of Uniondale Club.

In recognition of five years' service as a 4-H Homemaking Club Leader, Mrs. Elmer Tufts, of Bethel-Zion Club was presented with a certificate from the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs.

At the close of the afternoon's programme members and leaders each received a sterling silver 4-H Homemaking spoon in recognition of having completed the project.

What Is A Christian?

(A Sermon by Rev. R. Donnan)

In answer to this question, I suppose we might hear many different opinions, depending on one's background and Church affiliation. No doubt it would be an interesting topic for a panel discussion or debate. If we are to give a sound Scriptural answer, we must first of all, make known the meaning of the word. The word derives its meaning from the word "Christ", which literally means the "Anointed One." Perhaps the best definition that we could give is: a Christian is one who is Christ-like. In other words, a Christian is one who tries with all that is within him to live like Christ, to act like Christ, to talk like Christ, to love like Christ and to pray like Christ. You have often heard the words "What you are speaks so loud that the world can't hear what you say; they are looking at your walk, not listening to your talk, they're judging by your actions every day."

May I ask another question? Is it possible to take His Name in vain and still be a Christian or "Christ-like." Some use His Precious Name as glibly as they would use their own.

There has always been a distinguishing element between the world and the Christian. You can distinguish a true Christian on the street by listening to their conversation and you can also distinguish a true Christian by taking note of the things they love to do most.

Let us delve into the meaning of this word a little further. What is the Scriptural meaning? Jesus said to Nicodemus: "Marvel not that I say unto you, Ye must be born again." The words "born again, saved, conversion" are words that we hardly hear anymore. If you do question anyone as to whether they are converted or saved, they cringe away in fear.

The Bible makes known the fact that we are all sinners, born and shapen in iniquity and we need help from an outward source. This source is Jesus Christ. We cannot save ourselves by our good works, and the giving of alms. If we could save ourselves by our good works, then there was no need for Jesus to suffer and die on Calvary's Cross in our place. We must carefully and thoughtfully listen to the words of Jesus, when He said "Ye must be born again." In simple and plain English, Jesus said, "We must have a personal experience with God."

It has been said, that we live in a Christian Nation, but that doesn't make us all Christians. Just because you put a car in a garage it will not become a mechanic. Just because you attend a church each Sunday you will not become a Christian. You must come into a vital, living relationship with God. By personal experience, I know this to be true. I was brought up in a Christian home, listened as the Bible was read each morning, I heard my parents pray, I was in church each Sunday, but I was still far from God. I say that all of these things influenced me to make the decision that I made, but at the age of 18 I realized that I had to know God for myself or I would be eternally lost.

How do you become a Christian? The Philippian jailer asked Paul the same question. Paul said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and shalt be saved." But you immediately say, I believe there is a God, but is it head knowledge or do you believe it from the very depths of your heart? Do you believe that Jesus stood in your place condemned to die? Do you believe that He suffered the penalty for your sins which was eternal Death? There is a great difference in believing about God and believing in God.

The ceremonies and the rituals of the church will not save you, they must follow conversion. Jesus alone can make you a new creature in Himself. Friend, you will absolutely know when this wonderful transformation takes place. Jesus will take your burden of sin and it will never be remembered against you no more forever. Come now just as you are, Jesus will receive you. Listen to the words of Charlotte Elliott:

"Just as I am without one plea,
But that Thy blood was shed for me,
And that Thou bid'st me come to Thee,
O Lamb of God I come, I come."

Wellman's W.I. Short Course

On Wednesday, January 10th, those of Wellman's Women's Institute taking the short course, "143 Pounds of Meat," had a pot luck dinner at the home of Mrs. Carl Clancy.

The two instructors, Mrs. Carl Clancy and Mrs. Clifford Clancy, had prepared the meat for the dinner, cooked as instructed by the course. The meats consisted of roast beef, pork liver and meat paddies. These were especially tasty and everyone commended the instructors on their ability in preparing the meats. The other dishes for the meal included almost everything. The meal in its entirety proved most delicious.

Plans were made for the summary day in February. Everyone present was told a certain type of meat which they were to describe the preparation and the other foods to go suitably with it at the next meeting on January 17th.

During the afternoon a friendly greeting was written by each person present to Mrs. Gerald Clancy and Mrs. Keith Clancy, who were patients in hospitals at the time and unable to be present.

They concluded a very enjoyable time, everyone departing with a much better knowledge of the preparation of meats which we use every day.

WOODBECK — In memory of Mrs. J. F. Woodbeck, who passed away two years ago, January 27th.

She would not ask for grieving, she

But just to be remembered, with the

It's sad to walk the road alone,
instead of side by side,
But to all there comes that parting
when the ways of life divide.
She gave us years of happiness, then came the sorrow and tears,
But she left with us those memories
we will treasure through the years.
Until memory fails or life departs,
Mother lives forever in our hearts.

This is a lousy depression. Everybody's working and everybody's broke. At least we didn't have to work in the last one.

CARROTS

Like Scheherazade in the Arabian Nights, we could tell a different story for a thousand and one nights — about carrots.

Carrots are grown, eaten and liked in almost every country of the world. Canada alone produces some 325 million pounds a year, both exporting and importing them. All in all we eat an average of over 15 pounds per person per year but less than one pound a year each for canned carrots, which points up our preference for the fresh, crisp vegetable.

Wise in her ways is the woman who serves carrots often and regularly to her family for carrots are a rich source of Vitamin A. We need Vitamin A in our meals every day to keep the skin and mucous membrances in a normal healthy state. As these are our first line of defense against invasion by disease germs or infections, this vitamin plays an important part in the maintenance of health. One serving of carrots (about 3½ ounces) will ensure a day's quota of this vitamin and yet, carrots supply very few calories.

A look at the label on a bag of carrots gives an idea of how much care is taken to ensure that consumers buy ones of good quality. The label shows the grade mark and size of the carrots. There are three federal grades — Canada No. 1; Canada No. 1 Cut Crown, and Canada No. 2. The top grade, Canada No. 1 is most generally sold by retailers. The size of the carrots is designated with the grade as, for example, Canada No. 1 Small, Medium or Large as the case may be. Small carrots range from ¾ to 1¾ inches in diameter; medium from 1¼ to 2¼ inches and large from 1¾ to 2¾ inches. All Canada No. 1 carrots must be at least 3½ inches long; firm; well trimmed; fairly smooth; well shaped; reasonably clean and free from decay or other damage. Carrots are labelled as "Washed Carrots" only if they have been washed before packing.

The name of the packer also appears on the label as does the weight of the carrots packed in the bag. Any or several, but not necessarily all of these convenient household weights are available; 20 ounces; 2½ pounds; 3 pounds; 4 pounds and 5 pounds.

Carrots store well in transparent bags in the refrigerator for a week or two.

Shredded or grated carrots are popular in gelatine or tossed vegetable salads. Carrot curls made with a vegetable peeler are a crisp, colourful garnish. Carrot sticks liven up a relish tray. Cooked carrots in any way are good eating. Here are a few ideas from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa for you to try.

Carrot and Apple Casserole

3 cups sliced carrot
1½ cups peeled sliced apple
2½ tablespoons brown sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter

Toss prepared carrots and apple together in a bowl. Combine brown sugar, salt and lemon rind and add to carrot and apple mixture. Sprinkle with lemon juice and mix well. Turn into a greased 4-cup casserole and dot with butter. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degs. F.) until carrots are tender, about 1 hour, OR in a moderately slow oven (325 degs. F.) about 1½ hours. Six servings.

Variation —
Top Stove Method

Measure ¼ cup water into a saucepan. Add carrots, cover, bring to a boil, reduce heat and cook gently for 10 minutes. Mix together the apples, brown sugar, salt, lemon rind and juice. Add to carrots and mix well. Add butter, cover and continue cooking until carrots are tender, about 15 minutes longer, turning carefully once or twice during cooking. Six servings.

Harvard Carrots

1½ pounds carrots
(6 to 24 depending on size)
c cup water
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 to 2 tablespoons butter

Wash and scrape carrots. Leave small ones whole, cut larger ones into fingers. Cook, cover on, in gently salted water for about 20 minutes until just tender. Drain off liquid into measuring cup and if necessary add water to make ½ cup. In saucepan combine sugar, cornstrach, vinegar and cooking liquid. Cook gently, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Stir in butter. Add carrots and heat thoroughy. Six servings.

Carrots and Onions "Amandine" (Almonds)

12 small carrots
6 medium onions
¾ cup boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
Milk
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup light cream
⅛ teaspoon basil or oregano
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds

In a covered saucepan, cook whole, prepared vegetables together in boiling salted water until just tender, about 20 minutes. Drain into a measuring cup and add enough milk to make 1 cup liquid. Make a cream sauce with the butter, flour, cooking liquid and cream. Add seasoning. Add cooked vegetables and heat thoroughly. Turn into a serving dish and sprinkle with almonds. Six servings.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

IMMATURITY

Some years ago the philosopher Overstreet, gave us his maturity concept. It has no doubt helped many individuals on the path to progress, and has done a good deal to improve education. Nevertheless, it is true that an immature tendency still prevails in the world.

Overstreet said that human beings are born irresponsible. At the outset, he claimed, there is nothing that the helpless infant can do for itself or for anyone else. In a very real sense, said one philosopher, "the world owes it a living."

But the child is supposed to progress toward self-help. "The toddler that fumblingly begins to learn how to dress itself is in training for emotional and social maturity. Year by year, as helplessness turns into strength, the sound human being takes on a responsibility commensurate with his powers."

This concept, that as we grow we should take on additional responsibility, and cease to ask the world to wait on us, is not all popular.

Instead, immature men continue to seek ways to avoid individual responsibilty. Political parties which offer to devise a system in which the State replaces the parents and provides a living for each citizen can count on a large following. Dictators reach power because of the immaturity of the citizens, who are all too willing to hand over responsibility to the leader.

Why do we remain immature? I think it is because the joys of maturity are not understood and extoiled, while the comforts of immaturity have been over sold. It is true that the journey to maturity is no picnic, that one gets bruised, and sometimes frustrated and tired; but the satisfactions of growth and development, when understood, more than compensate for the hurts of the struggle.

One may attain a great degree of maturity without becoming rich or famous. A person may reach it at the lowest point in his career, when others mistakenly deem him a failure. But the individual, no matter how dire the difficulties he faces, knows that he has reached maturity if he can accept himself and the events around him and keep trying with all his capacity to live a full and rich and responsible life.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacMillan, Ivanhoe Enjoy Diamond Anniversary

Clarissa Ann, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McGowan, of White Lake, became the bride of Hugh Russell, second son of Mrs. Matilda Jane MacMillan, and the late Russell MacMillan, of Ivanhoe, in a wedding ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, at seven o'clock on December 25th, 1901.

The Rev. Oliver Raymond officiated at the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride took her vows in a pearl-grey satin gown, fashioned in the style of 60 years ago.

Miss Alberta McMullen, of Oak Hills, cousin of the bride, gowned in blue satin was maid of honour, while Mr. John Rollins, cousin of the bridegroom, performed the duties of the best man.

Of the union were born three sons and four daughters: William, of Ivanhoe; John Malcolm (died in childhood); Anne (Mrs. Wm. Smith, Kingston); Esther (Mrs. Lorne Rorabeck, Brighton); Irma (Mrs. Charles Laskin, Sudbury); Carry (Mrs. Carl Rollins, Brighton); and Malcolm, who with his wife and family, reside on the old homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan have 19 grandchildren and twenty-five great grandchildren.

Of United Empire Loyalist stock, they reside on the farm at Ivanhoe that has been in the MacMillan family for five generations. Mechanized farming is vastly different today than in his childhood, says Mr. MacMillan. He remembers when his father tilled the same soil with oxen.

Ten years ago, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, 42 were served dinner at the parental home followed by an evening reception at Ivanhoe Township Hall.

On the past Labour Day week-end due to the ill health of Mrs. MacMillan and Canadian winters, a pre-anniversary get-together was held at the MacMillan home, where members of the family spent a pleasant day.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan have always been vitally interested and deeply concerned in the work of the church.

Outside church and home, Mrs. MacMillan's interests have been horticulture, the Historical Society and the Women's Institute of which she has been a faithful and willing worker of Ivanhoe W.I. for many years.

Enjoy Hunting

Mr. MacMillan at 82 years of age is still quite active. His greatest pleasure is deer hunting. A sport he has enjoyed from his early teens and with few exceptions, has gone hunting in the north of Hastings County each year. This year he spent two weeks in the bush and four deer were brought home by his party. His sight and hearing are still keen. Three seasons ago he bagged a beauty. He enjoys a good hockey game, boxing matches and baseball games.

He still dons the blades for a few whirls around the ice and already has enjoyed his first toboggan ride this year.

Great Readers

Both Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan are ardent readers.

On Christmas Day Mrs. MacMillan, who is a patient in the Kingston General Hospital, was allowed to go to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Smith, where she spent a quiet day with her husband of 60 years.

Congratulatory messages were received from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, Premier John Robarts of Ontario; Clarke Rollins, MPP, Coe Hill, Mr. Kenneth Holland; Huntingdon Township Council; a brother, Mr. James MacMillan, of Vancouver, B.C., and many friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan wish to take this opportunity to thank their friends and relatives for their good wishes and lovely gifts.

The Ivanhoe community also extends best wishes for many more happy anniversaries.

First Meeting St. Paul's U.C.W.

On Tuesday evening, January 16th, the first meeting of the United Church Women of St. Paul's United Church was held in the church parlours with a very good attendance.

Mrs. David Duffin and Mrs. J. L. Good were at the door to receive the ladies.

Mrs. Duffin, the President, opened the meeting by reading a poem.

Mrs. R. A. Patterson had charge of the devotional and chose as her theme, "Worshipping God Through Music." A hymn was sung and all repeated Psalm 746 in unison, followed by prayer. Mrs. Patterson for meditation gave a talk on "Harmony," comparing life to music, with certain discords in it.

Mrs. Duffin spoke, giving the purpose of the new organization.

For stewardship, Mrs. Lansing, who is head of this department, spoke about how we are all stewards for God.

Mrs. G. Carlisle spoke on missionary education. She told how some people think of missions only in faraway places. Missionary work is done in medical work among Indians, mission schools, etc. She defined mission as love and acts of kindness to people at home and abroad.

Business matters were dealt with, which closed this part of the programme.

Mrs. J. L. Good was the convener of the meeting. Mrs. R. Hatton read II. Kings, chapter 2, the story of which exemplified a good woman with her hospitality to Elisha.

Mrs. Geo. Heasman favoured with a solo, "I'll Walk With God," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. Shortt.

A skit with Mrs. J. L. Good, Mrs. R. Utman, Mrs. E. Warren and Mrs. Marvyn Scott taking part, was put on. The skit dealt with the ladies having coffee at the home of Mrs. Good discussing the minister and the benefit derived from Bible study at the U.C.W. meeting.

A benediction closed this meeting. Coffee and cookies were served by the members of the executive.

THE BIBLE TODAY

The translation of the New Testament into Kuana and the Book of Genesis into Toaripi (spoken in New Britain) has now been completed. It is interesting to note that these two first editions of Scripture are being printed at Rabaul in New Guinea. This is the first time that any Scripures have been printed in this part of the world.

The printing of Scripture translations is sometimes an intricate and tedious process, so that the emergency printing in the United States of 50,000 Toba Batta Bibles and 30,000 Javanese Bibles, in just under four months, is a remarkable achievement. This crash programme was instituted to meet the dearth of Scriptures in Indonesia. The cost is being met by the American Bible Society and The British and Foreign Bible Society in Australia which has already raised over $90,000.00 by a special campaign, with further gifts flowing in.

The first 10,000 copies of a 50,000 printing of Indonesian New Testaments being manufactured in Japan was recently shipped after a ceremonial presentation of these Scriptures was made at the Indonesian Embassy. This printing is being done under the auspices of the Japan Bible Society and the cost is being met by a special appeal.

Entered Into Rest

MISS DOROTHY RUTH ANDREWS

Miss Dorothy Ruth Andrews, of Smiths Falls, Ont., died suddenly in Smiths Falls on Sunday, January 21st, 1962, in her 35th year.

Born in Thurlow Township, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Andrews, of Bonarlaw, she was a member of the Gospel Hall. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Rayburn (Shirley) Holland, of Belleville, and a brother, Douglas Andrews, of Springbrook.

The funeral service was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, at 2.00 p.m. on Wednesday.

Interment Mt. Nebo Cemetery.

Fire Destroys Old Landmark

One of the few remaining historical landmarks of the district, a large stone house on the 2nd Concession of Huntingdon Township, was completely destroyed by fire on Sunday afternoon.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Morgan, were at home when the blaze started in the attic.

With the assistance of volunteers they carried some of the downstairs furniture to safety, but everything on the second floor was destroyed in the fire. The home was insured.

Today's cars are supposed to be mechanically perfect and smooth running, but it seems there are still a lot of jerks in them.

The mind is a wonderful thing, it starts working the minute you're born and never stops until you stand up to speak in public.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

HOW TO SELECT A SIRE REPLACEMENT FOR A SWINE HERD

Poor feeding practices will make good hogs poor and poor hogs poorer; good feeding will bring out the best in good hogs and even improve poor breeding stock, says Ontario Agricultural College swine researcher Garnet Norrish. "To market a quality hog, you have to combine the best of feeding and breeding practices — neither will work alone," he warns.

Moving on to the breeding side of the picture, Mr. Norrish suggests that producers consider the present faults of their sows and then attempt to select a boar that will correct these faults.

The best method of evaluating any boar is through the information that is provided by the Record of Performance test for swine. This information shows a farmer how a boar's litter-mates or parents have performed in feeding trials. Boars with the best performing litter-mates or parents may not always be the boars that will do the best job in this particular swine herd.

He suggests that farmers observe the following points when selecting a sire for the swine herd:

— The reputation of the man selling the boar

— The number of litter-mates of the boar

— The general health of the herd

— The Record of Performance of litter-mates or sire, or dam, and here consider the carcass scores of the tested individuals, their maturity and feed efficiency

— Strong feet and legs

— The breed of your choice

A survey has indicated, says Mr. Norrish, that the use of boars with low R.O.P. scores reduced the percentage of Grade A pigs from 51% in the first generation to 23% in the 2nd generation and to only 9% Grade A pigs in the 3rd generation. However, the continued use of boars with high R.O.P. scores improved the percentage of Grade A pigs from 66% to 69% and then to 81% Grade A hogs in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd generations.

He advises that under the boar premium policy, the Ontario Department of Agriculture will give financial assistance to anyone purchasing a boar. Farmers can investigate these possibilities through their local Agricultural Representative.

THE BEST WAY TO LIFT THOSE BIG FEED BAGS

A poor job of lifting a heavy bag could cripple your back for life, says H. E. Wright, Farm Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

"Take time out to learn the six steps of safe lifting. They're all based on the idea that the strongest muscles are in the legs, thighs, arms and shoulders, not in the back," says Wright. Here is his system:

FIRST, make sure you have a solid footing. Back strains (wrenched back) result from losing your balance and throwing too much weight on the back muscles.

NEXT, squat down close to the object. The idea is to bend your legs and keep your back straight. In this way, your legs and not your back do the lifting. Don't get down to a full squat — the weight of the load won't let you straighten your legs. Just crouch so you can exert your full leg power. Keep your back fairly straight but not like a ramrod; the idea is not to bend at the waist where your back has to do the lifting.

THEN, grab the load firmly. A sudden shift in the load could throw the weight on your back. Result: a strain.

NOW, take a deep breath while you are lifting so that your muscles are tensed. You avoid strain that way too.

NEXT, carry the load close to you. You distribute the load over your whole body, keep better balance and less weight falls on the muscles of the lower back.

FINALLY, get help if the load is too heavy. Don't aim for weight lifting championship.

Farm Safety Conference

In the hope that further constructive plans can be developed to bring about a reduction in the number of farm accidents, the fourth annual farm safety conference will be held in the Physical Education Building, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, on February 6th and 7th.

Three hundred delegates will attend representing farm people and organizations interested in reducing the heavy toll of life and economic loss occasioned by farm mishaps.

While the safety program to date has resulted in a lowering of the accident toll, it is hoped that the forthcoming conference will bring about a greater realization of the seriousness of the situation.

Timely Tips

Cows in D. H. I. A. processed milk herds increased in production by an average of 995 pounds each between 1956 and 1960, reports the Farm Economics and Statistics Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. The farmers in the study used production records to eliminate low-producing cows or strains; fed adequately to bring out the productive ability of the cow used artificial breeding (81% in 1959-1960) to improve the breeding.

There is a possibility that your top-producing dairy cows will pay for a lot more grain than they are getting, says the Ontario Department of Agriculture. No two cows are alike, so a rule-of-thumb grain to milk yield will not suit every cow. The Department suggests offering high producers a little more grain. Step up the feeding rate gradually then adjust it to each cow's appetite.

If you have your feeder cattle on a full feed of 1½ to 2 pounds of corn per 100 pounds of body weight plus hay or silage, it might pay you to take a careful look at protein level, says Dr. Tom Burgess, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Below-average quality hay in most parts of Ontario will require the feeding of 1 to 2 pounds of protein supplement with full-feed rations.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Morrow Celebrate 50th Anniversary

A silver tea service presented to Mr. and Mrs. William G. Morrow, of 745 Water St., Peterborough, to mark their golden wedding anniversary, was in use on the tea table as they held open house on Wednesday, January 10th. This was a gift from their daughters and sons, Mrs. Victor (Edna) Carter, Mrs. Eric (Dorothy) Skinner, and Grant Morrow, all of Peterborough; Douglas Morrow, of Winnipeg and the five grandchildren.

Many cards of congratulations, telegrams and telephone messages, flowers and other gifts were received. More than 100 relatives and friends were present for the reception.

On January 10th, 1912, Mr. and Mrs. Morrow, the former Susan McKeown, were married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McKeown, of Bonarlaw. They postponed a honeymoon in winter weather and went on a trip to the States during the following summer. Mr. Morrow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Morrow, of Percy Township, was at that time in the livery business in Colborne. In 1925 he moved his family to Peterborough and for the following five years owned and operated a service station at the corner of Smith (now Parkhill Road) and Water Streets. He became car sales manager for J. K. Hughes and remained there more than 25 years. For the past 11 years and at present Mr. Morrow is selling real estate. This is the third 50th wedding anniversary in Mrs. Morrow's family and a fourth is coming up next month when a brother and his wife will celebrate the occasion.

To pour tea on Wednesday Mrs. Morrow invited her sister, Mrs. Willis Irwin, of Rylstone; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edgar McKeown, of Stirling, and Mrs. Fred McKeown, of Springbrook, and her cousin, Mrs. Pearl Harvey, of Toronto.

Guests were present from Toronto, Cobourg, Campbellford, Stirling, Bonarlaw, Springbrook and district.

A telephone call from their son in Winnipeg was a highlight of the festivities. A telegram was sent by Ontario Premier John Robarts and Keith Brown, MPP, called to present a golden anniversary plaque signed by the Provincial Secretary, John Yaremko.

Their many relatives and friends in Bonarlaw wish them many more years of happiness.

Inaugural Service St. Paul's United Church Women

Sunday, January 14th was the inaugural service to mark the new organization, The United Church Women, at St. Paul's United Church.

The executive of the new organization sat in a body at the front of the church. A prepared order of service was used by the minister and congregation.

Mrs. D. Duffin, who is the President of the United Church Women of St. Paul's, read the Scripture from Romans 8: 28-39. The junior and senior choir contributed to the service. The junior choir sang "O Worship the King" and the senior choir, "Hear Us O Lord."

Rev. P. J. Hommersen chose for his sermon, "In all things we are more than conquerer," taken from Romans 8, verse 37.

At the beginning of the year the W.A. had ceased to exist and the W.M.S. had written their last chapter. It is a tremendous step forward. Why do I want to belong to a Christian organization? Why a Christian Church? What is the loss? Paul says we are fellow labourers with him. This puts us in a new picture. God is very much concerned with what takes place here and now, not just in the hereafter, with each, with Stirling, with you. Does the Divine Command set ourselves up as our own judge.

There are a good many things in God's world we do not understand. To be a Christian submit your life to the playing of truth of God. When you do this you see yourself as Peter did who cried depart from me for I am a sinful man. If Christ lives in you, you become more than a conquerer, you become a redeemer. We look at our fellow-men with God's eyes. You are a labourer of God, you bring peace, hope and strength and the joy of God.

The closing hymn was "Breathe On Me Breath of God."

Cooking Comments

To speed up the setting of gelatine mixtures, place the mould in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator, advises the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph. To prevent the jelly from freezing, remove as soon as set. Jelly set this way tends to melt a little faster when brought into a warm room than does jelly set at room temperature.

Limit the garnish to only a little parsley, endive, or other salad greens, suggests the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph. This looks attractive, and does not handicap the carver.

To dress up ice cubes tint the water or place a twist of lemon or a red or green cherry in each ice cube section before freezing.

Afternoon Unit Three St. Paul's U.C.W. Away To Good Start

Great interest and expectation marked the first meeting of the Afternoon Unit Three of St. Paul's United Church Women's organization.

Under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Patterson, this Unit met in the lower Sunday School rooms Tuesday afternoon with a splendid attendance.

After words of welcome, Mrs. Patterson opened the meeting with the new theme hymn and prayer. There followed a short devotional conducted by Mrs. C. Lansing, Mrs. M. Aryhart and Miss Mildred White, with Mrs. Oliver Stapley as pianist.

Mrs. Ross Bush was named to the office of Secretary and Mrs. J. B. Hough accepted that of Treasurer.

In conducting the business, Mrs. Patterson presented many matters for discussion, such as representation on the various standing committees of the organization, visitation of the older members, either ill or shut-in, and also the matter of subscriptions to the Observer, in which there was considerable concern.

Decision was made to hold further meetings on the second Tuesday of each month, including the summer month of July.

The following women were named to act on committees:

Membership, Mrs. Sid Williams; Supply, Mrs. Sam Elliott; Community Friendship, Mrs. M. Ayrhart; Social, Mrs. T. W. Beatty; Programme, Mrs. W. Elliott, Mrs. Wilbur Johnson and Mrs. Alex Bush.

A short programme followed with readings by Mrs. V. Richardson and Mrs. Earl Eggleton, the theme being "The Value of Today." Prayer by the leader brought the meeting to a close.

While enjoying afternoon tea served by Mrs. Patterson, many interesting views were voiced as to means of raising funds and presenting variety in programmes. Further plans for same will be continued at the February meeting.

STIRLING HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The last week of this month is a good time to pot-up Gloxinias, which like a light rich soil with which some sand has been incorporated.

Teen-Age Bowling

On Friday, January 19th, Jim Haggerty's "Goofballs" took 5 points from Joan McArton's "Smoothies," while June Wilson's "Jazz Gang" took 5 points from Jeff Mouck's "Rookies."

The high single of 197 was taken by Keith Christie as was the high double of 384.

Eggleton Messengers

The first meeting of the Eggleton Messengers was held at the school on Friday afternoon.

The new President, Glenn Stapley, presided over a programme which had been prepared by Sheila Clarke and Lois Danford. The opening hymn was "Jesus Bids Us Shine," with Lois Danford as pianist.

The selected Scripture Lesson was read by Dianne Prest. Carol White read a poem, "The Snowflake," and following this an interesting reading was given by Sheila Clarke.

The Secretary, Dianne Prest, called the roll showing 24 children and 3 adults present. The offering was gathered by Judy Johnson. The next meeting will be held on February 9th.

Brian Kovach read a poem, "The Hike." All joined in singing "Happy Birthday" for Carol White who celebrated a birthday this month.

A "Messenger Ceremony" was conducted by the leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, assisted by Kenneth Danford, who read St. Matthew 9: verse 10, and Wayne McMullen, who read II. Corinthians, chapter 8, verse 23.

Earlier three girls from the junior grades, Linda Prest, Carol Stapley and Sandra Stapley, had been given coloured mounted pictures. They also came to the front of the school and held up their pictures depicting "Helping Others," "Teaching" and "Sharing." The pictures illustrated how "Messangers" can be helpers in working for Jesus.

Mrs. Clancy read the special prayer with the pupils giving the response "Thank You, Our Father." Following this the leader read the story, "The School in the Hollow," written by Gertrude J. Rinden, which told of a missionary's work in a mountain region.

All present signed a pretty get-well card to be sent to Mrs. R. Danford, who is a patient in Belleville Hospital.

With Mrs. Reide as pianist, Mrs. Clancy taught the children a lovely new chorus, "Praise God." The meeting colsed with a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Reide.

The lunch convener, Sheila Clarke, served delicious homemade cookies.

The Good Driver

"WINTERIZE" BOTH CAR AND DRIVING HABITS, OML CAUTIONS

Motorists were cautioned recently by the Ontario Motor League to "winterize" their driving habits as well as their cars.

"It is important to attend to both if you want to enjoy trouble-free winter driving," said Trevor A. White, OML's General Manager. "One can be taken care of by your garage, but the other is your responsibility."

Emphasizing that streets and highways in winter are often slippery and hazardous, the OML official listed the following tips for "winterizing" your driving:

1. Get the feel of the road. Test surface conditions as you start out.
2. Follow at a safe distance. Leave plenty of room to stop.
3. Avoid sudden manoeuvres — stops, starts or turns.
4. Know how to prevent a skid and also how to get out of a skid.
5. Have good tires, preferably snow tires — and chains.
6. Remain alert at all times, especially during the early darkness hours of winter.

The OML pointed out that "winterizing" your car involves more than pouring in antifreeze. It urged motorists not to try to handle the job themselves but to take their cars to a good garage.

Eight tips to avoid winter stalling were listed by the Ontario Motor League:

1. Check your battery. If it is weak, replace it before the cold weather sets in.
2. Install antifreeze and proper thermostat. Make sure there are no radiator or hose leaks.
3. Check generator charging and fan belt.
4. Check ignition system, points, spark plugs.
5. Check carburetor and automatic choke operation.
6. Change engine oil and other lubricants to winter weight.
7. Add winter-grade solvent to your windshield washer.
8. Place a bucket of sand or other abrasive in the trunk of your car.

Overtrained

The mighty hunter was reminiscing for his visitors.

"There I was," he said, "the grizzly bear was down in the canyon behind a tree, blocking my only exit. The only way I could possibly hit him with my last bullet was to ricochet the shot off the high canyon wall on my right."

Another timely pause to let the drama sink in. "Well, I gauged my windage, calculated the lead of the barrel and the rate of twist, the hardness of the bullet and the angle of yaw it would have after being smacked out of shape against the canyon wall, and I judged my chances were about 50-50 that I would be able to hit that bear. So I fired."

Then there was silence. Finally one of the visitors asked breathlessly, "Did you kill the bear?"

"Naw," he replied disgustedly. "I missed the wall."

What Others Say

APPRENTICESHIP AND AGE BARRIER

(Montreal Gazette)

The practice of labour unions to insist that no apprentices should be over 21 years of age has been attacked by Mr. Max Swerdlow, director of education for the Canadian Labour Congress.

Speaking at a panel discussion at the first Ontario Conference on Education, Mr. Swerdlow said that the present apprenticeship system is "ridiculous." He believes that anyone who has the ability should be able to train for a craft, no matter what his age may be.

It is an important proposal. This is a time when thousands of workers find themselves without work because they have no skills, or because their particular skills are no longer in demand. They are in danger of becoming chronically unemployed, or may hope to find nothing better than the temporary job.

The apprentice system would be one of the most practical ways of fitting them for work. They could earn while they learn, and find the help and adjustment they need within the labour union organization.

Mr. Swerdlow's recommendation would require a revision (almost a revolution) of the practices of a number of Canadian unions. But a more liberal policy, which would modify or remove the existng age barriers, would give new hope to many a Canadian who has found himself, through changing conditions, "a displaced person" in his own country.
